Dear Parents,

Fall has arrived on the Campus Beautiful, and with the crisp mornings and falling leaves come days full of coursework, exams, projects, research, symposia—and midterm grades!

Outside of the classroom the campus is abuzz with activities! A full week of Homecoming events are planned—and we think this year’s offerings will be the best yet! With a student theme of Pixar films, campus organizations, including fraternities & sororities, are busy preparing their floats for an extended parade route through campus, as well as their dances for the always entertaining Lip Sync contest. We hope you join us for our alumni events and Saturday’s football game, complete with a Parents Club tailgate table and corsage sale to benefit our CU Seniors’ projects.

With a motto of Come to Learn, Go to Serve, multiple fundraisers and community service projects are always underway. This issue of The Scoop highlights a few of these and many more are planned in the coming months.

We are proud and pleased that Concord continues to receive numerous recognitions from national organizations and ratings groups, such as the Princeton Review, U.S. News & World Report, Best Value Schools, and Social Work Degree Guide. Concord is repeatedly cited for both our educational excellence and affordability.

As always, we invite your comments and suggestions. We hope to CU soon! On behalf of the Parents Club, best wishes and peace,

Marjie Flanigan
Vice President of Student Affairs & Dean of Students

News from the Financial Aid Office by Debbie Turner, Financial Aid Director
(finaid@concord.edu; 304-384-6069)

Students have settled into classes but may feel overwhelmed and contemplate withdrawing from a class or two. Before doing so, students should realize that withdrawing from classes has an impact on future eligibility for financial aid. Colleges are required to have a Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) policy to determine if students are meeting a grade point average (GPA) requirement and completion ratio—or number of hours earned compared to number of hours attempted. This ensures that students stay on pace to graduate. Concord’s SAP policy is located on our web page at www.concord.edu, click on Quick Access, then the Financial Aid link (scroll down to locate the policy).

There are times it is better for a student to withdraw from a class than receive a failing grade, but the class will count toward the completion ratio. Students must pass 67% of the classes they attempt. Students not meeting any of the standards of the SAP policy are ineligible to receive financial aid in the future. Students are given one semester on a “Warning” status to correct the deficiency.

If, after the warning semester, the student is still not meeting SAP he/she must appeal and be approved to receive future aid. Please refer to the policy regarding the appeal process. If a student is ineligible for aid, it does not matter how long he/she sits out—being ineligible remains and the student will have to appeal and be approved in order to receive aid.

In addition to meeting SAP, some awards have additional renewal criteria. For example, WV students receiving the Promise Scholarship must complete 30 hours each year and meet a minimum GPA requirement to be eligible for the next year. If a student withdraws from a class, and does not complete the required 30 hours, he/she may not meet the renewal criteria for a grant or scholarship.

If your student has questions about the SAP policy or how withdrawing from a class will affect future eligibility for financial aid please have them contact our office at finaid@concord.edu, phone 304-384-6069, or stop by Marsh Hall Room 206.

Student Services

Disability Services by Nancy Ellison, International Student Advisor/Disability Services Coordinator

Concord University is committed to working with students with disabilities to assess their needs and to assist with academic accommodations that may be necessary and appropriate due to their disability. The Office of Disability Services assists in the coordination of appropriate services, based on the student’s individual, documented needs. We also seek to enhance understanding of disabilities and provide support within the campus community. For more information, please see our website: http://www.concord.edu/student-affairs/disability-services.
International Student Services

Concord University is home to more than 100 international students representing more than 30 countries. The Host Family Program provides an opportunity for American families to learn about other countries and cultures by having an international student stay in their home during university breaks. In turn, the international student benefits by being able to practice English conversation and learn about American culture first hand in the comfortable, friendly environment of an American home. If you would like more information, please email Nancy Ellison at nellison@concord.edu.

Athens Family Practice Medical Center

Athens Family Practice is a medical clinic available to all Concord University students. Conveniently located just off campus. Concord alumna, Dr. Jessica Aliff, and her staff are ready to meet students’ needs. This is not a drop-in clinic, so appointments must be scheduled in advance. Students must bring their insurance card and student ID. If your student finds that he/she cannot make a scheduled appointment, please avoid a “no show”. It takes a possible appointment time away from someone else and leads to increased student costs. Athens Family Practice is reserving appointment times on Thursday afternoons specifically for students, but if these appointments are not filled, they will fill with community members. For more details regarding physicians and the clinic, click on the following links. Come to Learn, Go to Serve

Service Projects by Hannah Finkey, University 100 Service Project Coordinator

One of the many goals of Concord is to instill a commitment to community and service in each and every student and as such, every year the incoming freshmen take part in a two-hour service project. This year three options were available to our students: letters to the military via the Million Thanks project, care bags for elderly shut-ins in our community, and a Pipestem State Park cleanup. Thanks to all of our wonderful freshmen, hundreds of cards will be sent around the world to American military personnel and veterans. Additionally, over 100 care bags were thoughtfully created by our freshmen to send to the Princeton, WV Commission on Aging. Many more opportunities for service will be available for freshman and all Concordians as the year progresses.
Bonner Scholars Program

The Bonner Scholars Program was created with the belief that college students engaged in service have unique gifts and talents which bring energy, creativity, and hope to individuals and communities. It is based also on the belief colleges and universities can and must be a "telling presence" in their local communities. In launching and supporting the Bonner Scholars Program, the Bonner Foundation has entered into a partnership with participating institutions that have made a commitment to envision new possibilities for campus-community partnerships.

Once a student enters the Bonner Program, he or she commits to a series of expectations, including the following:

- Arriving on campus before the regular freshman orientation to participate in an orientation program designed specifically for new Bonner Scholars;
- Serving an average of ten hours a week at a community service site during the school year;
- Completing at least two full-time summer service internships;
- Engaging in a comprehensive placement process for required service work, including establishing service and learning goals and defining methods for achieving these goals;
- Attending regular group reflection, enrichment and training activities through which the student will be challenged and supported in developing his or her skills, knowledge, commitments and responsibilities; and
- Considering ways to integrate his or her academic studies with community service activities.

U.S. News & World Report Ranks Concord University Among the Best Regional Colleges in the South

Concord University has earned noteworthy recognitions over the past several months, including being named among the Best Regional Colleges South in the 2016 edition of U.S. News & World Report’s Best Colleges. Concord ranks as the number one public institution in West Virginia among Regional Colleges South and places sixth in the top ten public schools in that category. The annual publication, released September 9th, ranks Concord University in the first tier of the Regional Colleges South category. Of the 74 institutions in this category, Concord ranks 47. Concord has consistently placed in the top tier of Best Colleges for the past 11 years.

The rankings are based on criteria that measure academic quality. Each institution is evaluated in areas such as graduation rate, SAT and ACT scores, and student/faculty ratio. Calculations are also determined by ranking institutions in each category against their peers. For more information visit http://colleges.usnews.rankingsandreviews.com/best-colleges

Concord has also earned the honor of being named among the top colleges in the Southeast by The Princeton Review. In the “2014 Best Colleges: Region by Region” online feature Concord is listed as one of 138 institutions in the “Best in the Southeast” category.

Institutions receiving this designation are spotlighted for their academic excellence. The Princeton Review also uses answers from student surveys in the selection process. The rating score categories include: Academics, Admissions Selectivity, Financial Aid, Fire Safety, Quality of Life, and Green. The Princeton Review explains the criteria for each rating score on its site at www.princetonreview.com/college/college-ratings.aspx.
Beckley Campus News

Miranda Woody is the new Student Government Association Representative for the Beckley campus, and Beckley student Garrett Cole is one of four new freshmen Delegates to SGA. This means the Beckley students have more representation than ever before. Miranda and Garrett are already planning GREAT things for this fall. Tuesday, September 22 at 7:30 join Beckley students on the HEC lawn (E-10 if bad weather) for an 80’s movie night featuring “The Breakfast Club”. Monday, September 28, stop by the HEC lobby from 5-6:00 pm to make your own tie-dye T-shirt. Then for Beckley’s uptown Chili Night on October 3, CU will have a booth alongside the Women’s Resource Center booth that Lori Pace’s sociology students sponsor. The Beckley campus has chosen the movie “Up” as their entry in the October 8 Homecoming Parade. Students are invited to join the Beckley group, which will line up around 4:00 for the 6:00 parade. Call 304-384-5614 to join any of these Beckley campus activities and follow the “Concord Beckley Student Services” Facebook page for the latest information.

Communications major and dual campus student Justin McPeake, shown below with his family at St. Patricks Cathedral in NYC when they joined the Pop Culture class’s Red Eye Bus trip in 2014, has his own radio show on WVCU 97.7 Wednesdays at 1-2:00 pm. Listen as Justin spins 80s and 90s tunes and has the latest sports updates. If you are out of radio range, listen live at http://hub.concord.edu/wvcu/node/3.
Lori Pace’s sociology students have many activities around October’s Domestic Violence Awareness including hanging purple ribbons downtown, the WRC Chili Night booth, a Stewards of Children training October 5, 4-6:30 pm which is open for others to register and participate by emailing lpace@concord.edu, the WRC Candlelight Vigil October 10, and Tailgate Halloween October 31 at the Intermodal Gateway from 11-1pm students will sponsor a Just for Kids Child Advocacy booth. Also, watch for the students to join the #herblackeyeisourblackeye campaign for Domestic Violence Awareness in social media. Watch the student services Facebook page to participate and share.

Class of 2019!!

Honors Colloquium by Dr. Tracy Luff, Professor of Sociology & Honors Program Director
Concord University’s Honors Program is growing! Thirty-eight new students were admitted to the Honors program, making the 2015-16 class the largest in the program’s 54 year history. The first Honors Colloquium of the year was held on September 10th. All new students were introduced and welcomed by Dr. Tracy Luff, Director of the Honors Program. Dr. Marjie Flanigan, Vice President of Student Affairs & Dean of Students, spoke about the importance of the Honors program and described contributions made by previous cohorts of Honors students. Two incoming students, Emily Allen and Lydia McGee, were elected to represent the freshman class on the Honors Student Advisory Council. This year also marks the first time that Honors 101 has been offered at the Erma Byrd Higher Education Center in Beckley.

Riding Classes and Horse Show by Delaney Najar, Pre-Professional Biology major

When I first found out about the Riding class offered at Concord University I knew I had to find a way to fit it in to my crazy schedule. Being a Pre-Professional Biology major means I carry a load of heavy classes most semesters. I am so glad that I found time to join this class! I have always loved horses and dreamed of owning them, but growing up I realized that living in the city wouldn’t allow that. So I saw the class as a chance for me to spend time with horses and learn proper techniques of riding and horse care. The class was much more than that for me. It introduced me to people who were genuine, kind, and eager to help me learn. Shirley Trail and those who helped during the first “trial” run of the class made me realize that my dream could be obtained. Shirley broke down horse care and explained it in a way someone who has never dealt with horses could understand. She showed us how to properly groom our horse and coached us through mounting and the different gaits. She explained how each gait is different and the movement we, as riders, need to do to help the horse and improve overall appearance. Class tests were based on the material she either spoke about or handed out for us to study. The final exam was half written and half horse-handling. I appreciated being graded on my work with the horse, not just how much information I could remember. As the weeks flew by I realized that class would soon be over and I’d be left without a way to be around the horses and the wonderful people at the barn. However, Shirley offered me private lessons after the class ended and I happily accepted!

When I went for my first lesson I was nervous. Yes, I had been riding horses, but it had been in a class setting and never alone. Once I mounted the horse and we began moving, my nerves vanished. I was hooked! I had found my new hobby and also formed some of the best friendships. Over the next few months Shirley kept placing new challenges in front of me. She took the surface material we learned about riding during the class and expanded it one-hundred fold. She began preparing me for horse shows. During my private lessons, Shirley introduced me to a foundation called ATCHA.

The American Competitive Trail Horse Association is a group of people with many different breeds of horses--some rescues--that compete in trail competitions and obstacles courses. Shirley hosted an event and afterward I tried it with the lesson horse I had been riding. We soon discovered we were rather good and started training to compete in the next one. We competed and took third place! After this we went back to training for our horse show.

I had been riding for almost a year when Shirley introduced me to a horse she wanted me to ride. After the first lap I was in love. Shirley told me he was for sale and my hope began to bloom. I talked constantly about this amazing horse trying to convince my family he would be a perfect addition. Lucky for me my mom also loves horses and saw potential for the very talented American Saddlebred and me. We have been together for almost 6 months now. We went to our first horse show in July. We competed in the 47th annual Bluefield Shriner Blue-Gray horseshow. We participated in four classes and won a first place blue ribbon in our Academy showmanship, a second place ribbon in the Academy equation, and a third place in the go-as-you-please championship class. For my first horse show it was an amazing experience. Our next show was the West Virginia State Fair. We competed in three classes and we won a blue ribbon in the Academy equation and Academy showmanship classes. It was so humbling to look back at my start, going from not knowing proper form or how to truly handle a horse to being able to show in a competitive class and win with my horse. Taking the Riding and Horses class was the best decision I have made! It has given me a hobby that I will keep for a lifetime and friendships that will last the same.
