Tips for a Good Roommate/ Suitemate Relationship

1. Get to know each other. You've got your first opportunity to make a new friend. Take the time to ask and answer questions about family, hobbies, academic interests, etc.
2. Talk it out. Communication is key in building a successful relationship.

3. Be open and friendly. You and your roommate may not have the same taste in clothing or music, but you likely share some of the same concerns and apprehensions. Be the first to step out of your comfort zone.
4. Be understanding. Everyone has bad days. Remember that you may not always be aware of the issues your roommate is dealing with, but there's most likely a good reason for his or her actions. A sympathetic ear might help a lot.
5. Give each other space. Togetherness is great, but too much of a good thing can sometimes be not so great. You and your roommate both need time alone. If that time doesn't come naturally, talk about it.
6. Ask before you borrow. Everyone has a different comfort level when it comes to lending belongings. Asking first helps avoid misunderstandings.
7. Define "neat." Whether you're a neat freak or a slob, you have someone else's feelings to consider. With a little give and take, you can each adjust accordingly and make your environment comfortable.
8. Pick one extracurricular activity to share. There's nothing like having something in common to care about and talk about. If you aren't involved in any of the same activities, you are likely to see each other at bedtime only. You may feel like you're sleeping in a room with a stranger.
9. Schedule study times. Let your roommate know in advance when you have a big test or paper coming. He or she will know to give you some quiet time.
10. Live by the golden rule... "Do unto others, as you would have done unto you..."

Food Lab Times:

Breakfast: 8:00 am- 8:50a.m.

Lunch: 12:00 p.m -12:50 p.m.

Dinner 5:00 p.m. - 6:00 p.m.

Students are expected to clean up their area by pushing in chairs, emptying trash and placing silverware and plates in the appropriate area. Students may have unlimited refills on food and drinks. All students will remain in Food Lab until the conclusion of the meal time or until dismissed by an Upward Bound staff member.

Cell Phone Policy

The misuse of cell phones and other personal electronic devices leads to the disruption of the learning environment and prevents the Upward Bound Program's ability to achieve the high academic standards set in place for students. Cell phones, tablets, and earbuds are not permitted during scheduled class times, with the exception of teacher-directed academic purposes. Personal devices should be silenced and out of sight throughout each scheduled class period and for any guest speakers invited to talk with the Upward Bound Program. If you need to reach your student in an emergency, feel free to call our Grant Resource Specialist at 304.384.5197.

Consequences for misuse:

1st Offense: Surrender the phone to the teacher to pick up from the teacher once class is over.

2nd Offense: Surrender the phone to the teacher to pick up from an Upward Bound Staff member after all scheduled classes. The student's parent will be contacted to discuss cell phone misuse.

3rd Offense: Surrender the phone to the teacher to pick up from an Upward Bound Staff member after all scheduled classes. A meeting with the student and parent is expected to develop a personal electronic plan/contract for the student to remain in the summer program. This personal electronic plan/contract may involve the student turning in their phone to an Upward Bound Staff member before attending any classes for the day. The phone will be released to the student at the end of the scheduled class time and/or after any scheduled guest speakers.

Students who refuse to turn in their phones and continue to defy the teacher will face disciplinary action, which could result in being sent home from the summer program. Each occurrence of cell phone misuse will be documented and added to the student file.

By signing below, you affirm that you have read and fully understand the cell phone policy and disciplinary consequences set forth by the Concord University Upward Bound Program.
